NBA Recap

Yesterday was far from a good day for the NBA model, going just 2-4 overall on the night.

We did have some bad luck come our way, mostly regarding the 3-star play of Bulls +5.5. Chicago was up 90-87 with just over three minutes to play, but the Heat went on a 15-1 run to end the game and ended up winning the game by double digits.

Over/Under prediction struggled last night as well, and I will not be surprised to see that continue for most of the playoffs. Books have dropped the totals significantly lower than the number would be for a regular season game, and I'm not sure if there is an effective way to adjust for that. That means we will see lots of over predictions, which likely won't work in the model's favor.

Money Line Prediction	Over/Under Prediction	Spread Prediction
Heat ML (-215)	OVER 208.5 (-110)	Bulls +5.5 (-110)
Timberwolves ML (-215)	OVER 228.5 (-110)	Thunder +5.5 (-110)

NHL Predictions

The NHL model had a great day yesterday, going 4-1-1 on the night. However, none of yesterday's NHL predictions was given 3-stars.

Money Line Prediction	Over/Under Prediction	Spread Prediction
Sabres ML (-170)	OVER 7 (+100)	Blue Jackets +1.5 (-150)
Avalanche ML (-230)	OVER 6 (+105)	Predators +1.5 (-140)
